Places to visit

With some of the best places to visit in Nottinghamshire just a few minutes from Thoresby Hall, we asked our local team to recommend some of their favourites, and they didn't disappoint! From a millennia-old cathedral to boutique shopping hubs, with so much on offer you'd be forgiven for feeling spoilt for choice.

Things to do

Getting out and about around Thoresby Hall couldn't be easier, surrounded by parklands and the trees of Sherwood Forest. Travel slightly further afield and you'll be treated to some of the best locations and things to do in Nottinghamshire, including the adrenaline-fuelled Sherwood Pines and the historic limestone formations of Cresswell Crag.

We've partnered with ViewRanger to create walking and cycling routes for all levels of ability – tap here for more info.

THE BEST OF OUR GROUNDS AND GARDENS

Our grounds are as beautiful as anything else Nottinghamshire has to offer, so we've picked out three of the best things to see in the gardens of Thoresby Hall:

Victorian Rose Garden

Our rose garden boasts 25 varieties of roses dating from 1100 to the 2000s, including our very own Thoresby rose that's unique to our grounds. If you're visiting us between July and November, it's a must-see (and a must-smell) destination.

Thoresby's Tallest Tree

Standing a quite incredible 100 feet tall, this towering Douglas fir is the tallest tree in Thoresby Hall's grounds. You'll find it on the winding path that leads to our rose garden, a nice, easy stroll for all levels of walker.

Old House East Side View

Lovingly restored to their historic glory during the 1990s, our wrought-iron gates were featured in the 1999 BBC production of 'Great Expectations', and now form one of the most iconic photo ops Thoresby has to offer!

A MIX OF INDOORS AND OUTDOORS

One thing we can't promise here at Thoresby is that the sun will be shining for every day of your break, but these attractions are perfect for all kinds of weather:

Nottingham Arboretum

Opened in 1852, Nottingham's oldest park is the immaculately maintained home of over 800 trees, with peaceful walking trails just a stone's throw from the bustling city centre. It takes just over an hour to circle the mostly-flat park, with just a couple of inclines in places.

Southwell

A centuries-old cathedral, stone carvings so intricate they've had poems written about them, the most complete historic workhouse standing today, family-run tea rooms, and the home of the Bramley apple, celebrated with its own festival every October – you might need more than just one day in Southwell.

Edwinstowe

Only 10 minutes' walk from Sherwood Forest Visitor Centre, the medieval village is home to the church of St. Mary where Robin Hood married Maid Marian. This vibrant and busy destination offers many craft shops selling handmade chocolates, vintage fabrics, jewellery, plus several restaurants and pubs.

WIDE OPEN SPACES

If you've come to Nottinghamshire for a breath of fresh air, these outdoors places to visit will be right up your street:

Thoresby Park and Courtyard

A courtyard featuring boutique jewellery and craft shops, plus over 1,000 acres of picturesque English countryside less than a two-minute walk from the hotel – not that we're boasting.

VIEWRANGER AT THORESBY HALL

What is ViewRanger?

ViewRanger is one of the world's leading digital exploring guides, available for all Apple and Android devices, that lets you explore local areas on foot or by bike like never before. We've joined forces to provide a few routes around our hotels and villages for all levels of fitness. With ViewRanger you can follow the map with or without a data connection, with viewpoints, interesting attractions and helpful advice along the way.

How do I download ViewRanger?

It couldn't be simpler!

- 1 Go to your phone or tablet's app store
- 2 Search for "ViewRanger" and download "ViewRanger - Hiking Trails & Bike Rides" by Augmentra
- 3 Use the below web address or scan the QR code and it'll open up with our selection of routes for Thoresby Hall (it's up to you whether to create an account, although we do recommend it).

How do I get going?

Simply tap the signpost button in the top left corner of the app and select your chosen route. You can do this from the starting point or back at the hotel, and you can even download the route so there's no need to use up your data allowance while you're wandering.

All of the routes are self-guided so that you can do them at a time and pace that suits you. Here are a few tips to help you enjoy your adventure:

- Check the weather and be prepared with wet weather gear, or a coat, hat and maybe sunscreen when necessary
- Wear sensible shoes or walking boots, most of our routes are on well-worn paths, tracks, trails or woodland and pastoral land. There might be some muddy areas, gates or stiles to cross
- Pack a bottle of water, not all routes have a café or pub en-route
- Capture the beautiful countryside with your camera
- Take your mobile phone just in case of emergency
